HARDWARE.—Farming Implements of all kinds and cheaper than any one. See me before purchasing. E. J. PERRY.

COURT DAY NOTES.—There was not a large crowd in town Monday, the farmers generally being too busy in their crops to come. The rain the previous night was not a general one and in many sections the ground was not too wet to work. The merchants report trade good for the size of the crowd.

About 100 cattle were offered and sold at satisfactory prices. There was a good demand for work horses and mules, and several changed hands at advanced prices.

To Our Patrons.

If you intend going to house-keeping get our Pine Grove Stove and Kitchen outfit. We can save you money. E. L. & A. T. BYRON.

KILLED HIMSELF.—Parkersburg, W. Va., May 4.—August Hauck, of Pomeroy, O., lately employed as a barkeeper at the Lebanon Hotel, committed suicide this morning by blowing the top of his head off with a revolver. Despondency over losing his position is the supposed cause. Special to Commercial Tribune.

It is presumed that this is the same man who has visited on lower Slate Creek hunting in recent years.

Brother & Goodpastor certainly have the finest Sweet Potato Plant beds we ever saw. If you want Plants see them before you buy.

Tobacco SALES.—Cud Snedegar, of Wyoming, purchased a lot of tobacco and resold it to Mr. Bryan, of Louisville, 30,000 lbs. at 74c and the remainder at 54c. James Snedegar sold to Bryan his crop at 54c and Jack Conyers to same at 54c.

John Kincaid, of Wyoming, sold to T. J. Jones at 44c.

EARLY PARTIDGES.—Ed Horne, of the headquarters of Washington Branch, told us Monday that he had seen near his home an old partidge with a brood of sixteen young ones some weeks old. That is very early for partidges. The old partidges are quite numerous in spite of the unusually severe winter that it was thought at the time had nearly exterminated them.

Dr. L. H. Landman, No. 54 W. 9th St., Cincinnati, O., will be at the Corner Hotel, Owingsville, Ky., on Friday and Saturday, May 12 and 13th, 1899, two days and not fail to see him, have our eyes attended to and secure glasses from him while he is here. RAKE GAME BIRD.—Deputy Sheriff S. C. Bascom, Jr., brought in last Thursday a RALLUS ELEGANS, variously known under the popular appellations of king rail, great red-breasted rail, fresh-water marsh-hen, fresh-marsh hen, and fresh-water hen. Its length from tip of bill to end of tail feathers was 16 1/2 inches; its extent from tip of tip of spread wings, 22 1/2 inches. The species inhabits fresh-water swamps in the Mississippi Valley, and is a game bird prized by gunners, though not numerous anywhere. S. C. Bascom, Jr., had this one cooked, and pronounced it as fine a game bird as he ever ate. It was killed out at the Roe's Run iron mines by Charles Fowler. He said it was remarkably swift on foot.

OBITUARY.—Mrs. Susan E. Markland, of Taylor's Branch, was born in October, 1855, united with the Christian Church under Bro. Chas. Maxey when she was 16 years of age and remained a faithful Christian until the time of her death, which occurred May 8th, 1899. She was married to C. W. Markland Feb. 14th, 1872. She was a devoted wife, a kind and loving mother. She leaves a husband and 8 children, 4 sisters and 1 brother to mourn their loss. She was a daughter of J. G. and Rebecca Hart.

We are headquarters for Oliver Chilled, Ball, Hisside and Brown Double and Single Shovel Plows, Stoddard's Disc Harrows, Hay Rakes and Front Rank Corn Drills. All first class and warranted at very close prices.

E. L. & A. T. BYRON, Successors to J. A. Ramsey & Co.

JOSEPH DAVIS' DEATH.—Joseph Davis, aged about 80 years, died at the home of his son, near Craig, Tuesday afternoon of last week and was buried at the David Bailey burial ground Wednesday following. He had been a paralytic for several years. He was a half brother of the late Jefferson Rice, being the son of Mr. Rice's mother by her second marriage. He was a quiet, industrious, good old man, liked and esteemed by the community in which he lived. His family have the sympathy of their friends in their loss.

Thomas Clark Post, No. 36, will meet at the Old Virginia burying ground on Tuesday, May 30th, to decorate graves. Prominent speakers will be present. Dinner will be served on the ground, and a delightful day is promised. Confederate veterans invited. Come everybody. W. E. PHILLIPS, Commander.

ROWAN FOR CARTER.—At Morehead Saturday the Rowan county Democrats met in mass convention to choose between the several Rowan county candidates for Representative, C. E. Day had on the first ballot 90 votes, Dr. F. M. Carter 86, Caudill 52, Parker 47, Fitman 5, and Martin 5. On the last ballot Carter's vote went to Carter, giving Carter the county instruction, which is equivalent to the nomination, as Bath and

Lodge No. 1, P. O. on the death of Lewis W. Gullett.

Whereas, it has pleased Almighty God, in His All-wise Providence, to remove from this earth the well-beloved brother, Lewis W. Gullett,

Be it resolved, that the officers and members of Bath Lodge No. 40, I. O. of O. F., do hereby tender our most heart-felt sympathy to our brother in his bereavement;

That in her death our brother has lost a kind and devoted companion and the family a wise counselor and a loving and indulgent mother;

That a copy of these resolutions be presented to our brother, that they be spread upon the minutes, and that THE OWINGSVILLE OUTLOOK be requested to publish the same.

W. A. WHITCOMB, J. H. CAMPBELL.

FOR SENATOR.—Handsome, clever Judge James McCue, of Sharpesburg, respectfully solicits of the Republican party of the 35th Senatorial district the nomination for State Senator, and if it is given him he will strive to elect in a way that will make glad the heart of any fellow Republican that may be drooping. Nearly everybody knows the Judge hereabouts, and it goes without saying that he has a world of friends, who will know the fighting stuff that is in his political make-up. He served through the Civil War in Company B of the 10th Ky. Cavalry, U. S. A., and made a creditable record as a soldier. He came to Sharpesburg thirty years ago and has been a citizen of that town ever since, for twenty years of that time being Police Judge and in the mercantile business twenty-seven years. He has always been an active Republican and his party in Bath well knows how to rely on him in a campaign. A man of fine address, a ready talker, a smooth mixer, he makes an excellent impression and is a mighty hard man to beat for any political stake that he sets his heart on. The district is composed of Bath, Carter, Fleming, Menifee and Rowan counties.

DEMOCRATIC MASS MEETING.—The Democrats met in mass convention here Saturday and selected delegates to the district convention at Morehead Wednesday of this week to nominate a candidate for Representative.

The resolutions declared support to no one who wouldn't pledge himself to support Joe Blackburn for U. S. Senator, nor to any one who wouldn't pledge himself to endeavor to have passed a bill providing that the 25 cents on the $100 collected for turnpikes should be applied to both the dirt roads and the turnpikes, to the end that the dirt roads may be gradually macadamized.

Kentucky Crop Report.

Condition of Crops and Live Stock May 1st, 1899.

Reports were received this month from 100 correspondents, representing 103 counties.

WHEAT.

It may be interesting to note the condition of winter wheat in the principal wheat growing States at the present time, according to the Weekly Bulletin issued by the Climate and Crop Service for those States.

In the State of Ohio the crop is in much the same condition as in this State, early sown wheat on well drained land being promising, but there is a considerable portion of the acreage which is considered worthless. In Indiana wheat is badly damaged in northern part of the State, but quite promising in central and southern districts. Illinois, promising conditions prevail, as a rule, only in southern part of State, badly damaged in central and northern portions. In Michigan much of the wheat will be plowed up and planted to other crops. In Missouri the damage in the northern part of the State amounts to a practical failure, but in the other portions favorable weather conditions have repaired to a great extent the injury from winter killing. In Kansas the latest reports indicate from one-half to two-thirds of a crop. Winter wheat has also suffered in the States of Wisconsin, Iowa and Nebraska, but the damage there will be repaired by sowing to spring wheat.

In this State the condition May 1st is 80, which is an improvement of 3 points since April 1st. The condition on May 1st, as reported in former years, was as follows: 1898, 101; 1897, 95; 1896, 74. The seasonable weather the latter half of April has produced a rapid growth, but there is some complaint that the plant is not starting well, and that it will not be sufficient to cover the ground. The improvement is confined to early and medium late wheat, the extreme late being generally reported worthless.

NICHOLS & SHEPARD CO., Battle Creek, Mich.

PALMER & MINIHAN, Agents, Owingsville, Ky.

Spots in fields where the snow was blown off still show the effects of the exposure, and it is highly probable that these spots will remain bare to the end. It is estimated that 7 per cent of the acreage will be plowed up.

The western section continues to furnish the lowest average condition, 72. Only 6 counties out of the 39 report a condition above 80, while in Livingston county the condition is reported as low as 40. Heavy washing rains have been as much a source of damage here as any other cause.

In the central section the prospect is much brighter. Early wheat is very promising, especially on tobacco lands and those to which fertilizers were applied at seeding time. The average condition for this section is 82. Thirteen counties of the 40 show an average condition above 90.

In the southeastern section the condition averages 88.

OATS.

Oats were sown very late, in fact seeding was barely completed with the close of the month. Many farmers, in their eagerness, sowed while the ground was too wet for cultivation, resulting in poor germination and indifferent growth. Where sown with ground in good condition the crop is coming on nicely. The condition of the crop, compared with average years, is 75. The acreage has been greatly affected by the late season, and is estimated at only 70 per cent of average of 1898.

CORN.

Corn planting made considerable progress during the month, and while there yet remains much ground to be broken planting began as early as the middle of the month. The early planted came up quickly and is growing rapidly. No complaint is made of injury from cut worms or other insects. The ground dried very rapidly during the latter days of the month, and some difficulty is experienced in getting the ground in good condition for planting.

The per cent. of the crop of 1898 still in farmers' hands averages 29.

TOBACCO.

Tobacco plants, though plentiful, will be late. Indications are that setting will not be generally begun until 15th of May on account of plants being small. Indications are for an average acreage. The condition of plant beds, compared with average years, is 79.

CLOVER AND PASTURES.

Clover generally wintered well and has made wonderful growth since the advent of warm weather. It is now ready for stock to be turned out. Reports on clover sown this spring differ. In some counties reseedling has been found necessary on account of being killed by late freezes; also that it has been badly drifted into bunches by the heavy rains. Others report an excellent catch obtained from first sowing, and that it is getting a good start.

Pastures have made equally rapid growth, and considering the condition on April 1st, the present condition of 86 is quite satisfactory.

LIVE STOCK.

May 1st finds live stock in good condition after the long, hard winter. Very little complaint is made of hog cholera, and there is an entire absence of other diseases. Sheep that were suffering for lack of pasture are now rapidly regaining lost vitality. The general average condition is 92 compared with average years.

FRUIT PROSPECTS.

Prospects for fruit have improved wonderfully during the month. Especially is this the case with pears and cherries. The reverse is probably true of grapes, the damage to the vines from severe winter being greater than at first anticipated.

Apples, pears, cherries and plums have been in full bloom, with the weather conditions perfect for fruiting. Many correspondents make special mention of the unusual heavy apple bloom. Raspberries and blackberries will be a failure, the canes being killed to the roots. Strawberries are quite promising. Peaches, as indicated in previous reports, will be practically a failure, though a few reports of live bloom are received from the western and southeastern sections.

The prospects for various kinds of fruit, as compared with average years, are: For apples, 91; pears, 89; peaches, 92; cherries, 68; grapes, 71; strawberries, 88.

IN THE GARDEN.

"Come into the garden, Maud, For the windy days have flown; Come into the garden, Maud, And see how things have grown. I've planted pansies and sweet peas And morning glories there— Come into the garden, Maud, And see how my seedlings fare." DESPERATION OF THE UNLOVED.—A Washington lady who has been abroad with her little daughter tells this story:

The little maiden had a French nurse, of whom she was very fond, and who supplied her with most of her amusement. One day this nurse departed, and her small charge did not know what to do with herself. She wandered about the house, upstairs and down, into the garden and back again, and finally hung about her mother, who was busy with the baby. Receiving no attention, she turned away, saying, dejectedly:

"Nobody loves me. I guess I'll go down in the garden and eat bugs. I ate free yesterday—two beetles and one woolly one."—Washington Capital.

DIDN'T SUT THE GERMANS EXACT.—The following doggerel was recited by Capt. Coglian, of the cruiser Raleigh, during the remarks he made (at a club dinner) which set all Germany in a ferment:—

HOCH! DER KAISER!

Der Kaiser of die Paderland Und Gott on high all things command; Ve two—ah! Don't you understand? Are you—by Gott!

ANNOUNCEMENT.

For Senator.

We are authorized to announce Judge James C. McCue, of Sharpburg, a candidate for Senator, subject to the action of the Republican party.

THURSDAY, MAY 11, 1899.

The Washington authorities are getting confident now that the Filipinos will surrender before a great many days.

The newspaper gossips want to marry Gen. Jo Wheeler and Mrs. Geo. W. Childs, of Philadelphia, without the aid or consent of either principal. They ought to know that courts would not hold such a forced union to be valid.

The Gormanites won the Baltimore election. Their wily leader is nearly certain to get back to the United States Senate, where he will be missed meanwhile by the Democrats more than any Senator they have lost in many a day.

The plow-makers have broken ground for a gigantic Plow Trust. But there is no great trust for "the man behind the plow" except in the belief that right will win in the long run if he keeps his sense of exact justice to all greased and a-working.

The Copper Trust in process of organization could easily be a stupendous aggregation of capital. The Boston Financial News of last Thursday night announced a total cash subscription of $112,000,000 to the stock, which is limited to $75,000,000.

KIZAMIEK, Bulgaria, famous for its oil of roses, announces the accidental production of blue roses, a feat that has heretofore baffled the efforts of horticulturists. There is nothing like keeping everlastingly at it and trusting to chance even in evolving blue roses.

JOHN C. WOOD had an easy thing of it at the Richmond Third District Republican Railroad Convention, getting the nomination on the 9th ballot. The proceedings were remarkably harmonious, and all factions seemed to be united for the campaign.

Unless the linotype machine got on a spree and did it, this number of the newspaper programme of the British Guard Band's concert at Louisville—"Dance Rusehrdu em-fyupjehum"—is likely what ruralists call "something quick and devilish" in the way of music.

There are rumors from New York of a Steel Trust that caps the climax in the matter of capitalization with its $525,000,000. A business organized on a sound basis with that capitalization would be a gigantic power. The people might well be afraid of it in both business and politics.

The Missouri legislature has passed a very stringent anti-trust measure. It empowers the Attorney General to require the officers of any corporation that he may believe to have formed a trust to appear and give testimony about their business, under penalty of imprisonment for contempt of court.

Ever Spain is trying to hold up China for a cession of territory because a steamer got away from Canton last August with a load of arms for the Filipinos and delivered them. China may have to run the gauntlet of nations until the Prince of Monaco (or Monte Carlo) will demand a slice because Li Hung Chang on his European tour did come and try his luck at the famous gaming establishment.

The silver question will have the right of way in Philadelphia for a long time now. Uncle Sam has $65,000,000 of it, weighing 2,040 tons, that he will commence this week moving from the old to the new vaults built for it. It will take 680 loads to remove it, and a dispatch indicates that only six loads will be carried per day. Therefore for 113 days folks will be tempted to grab one of the thousand-dollar packages in which it is boxed and make a stake.

BUSINESS failures during April were the smallest since the commercial agencies began keeping monthly records. The calamity howl as a political factor is gradually playing out.

The negro George Dining got a judgment in the U. S. Court for $50,000 against six members of the mob who went to lynch him at his home in Simpson county. The jury was composed of white men. They assessed each defendant $8,333 1/3 damages, but they are said to be insolvent.

The czar is acting like he is in earnest in regard to his disarmament congress. The Russian government has made a friendly protest to Germany for appointing Prof. Von Stengel a delegate since he has recently issued pamphlets defending war and declaring that eternal peace ought not to be the aim of culture. It looks like Russia's point is well made.

As near as can be estimated, the Spanish war has cost Uncle Sam already $300,000,000, and the end is not in sight yet. Opinions will differ as to whether Uncle got his money's worth, for the supposed benefits are those intangible things whose value can only be guessed at. Perhaps philosophical historians of the remote future will be better able to judge those things than any one alive now.

A CINCINNATI woman sued for a divorce and alimony in Judge Jekke's Court. The husband pleaded that his wife wore a glass eye before marriage and he didn't learn the fact until after marriage. The Court held that physical blemishes were not grounds for frauds in marriage contracts. Not even the knowledge after marriage that she had a "marble" heart would have availed him anything.

SENATOR CHANCEY DEFEW forecasts the Republican platform of 1900 to be in line with previous platforms, with additions favoring expansion and condemning trusts. Both the big parties appear to have it in for the trusts in their platforms, but individual Republicans and individual Democrats will continue to promote trusts until the trusts "bust" by their own rottenness or are "busted" by the people.

ADMIRAL KAUTZ has written from Sumatra another letter that his brother-in-law gave to the newspapers, despite the sensation the publication of his other letter to a relative caused. In this second letter he calls the German consul, Rome, "arrogant and unreasonable." The Government is being put to much trouble by the indiscretions of its officers. Likely in the near future the regulations of the army and navy will prohibit the committing to paper of frank confidences to anybody except the proper authorities.

The newspaper villain still pursues Thomas Brackett Reed after he has reached England's shores, and he got pretty mad about it too when confronted with a cablegram that he hadn't given up Congressional life and was a candidate for President. He said he was seeking rest, and hinted that he wanted people to let him alone. Any country "journalist" could tell him that the surest rest this side the grave is secured by going into the merchandise business and not advertising in the newspapers.

The Richmond Republican Convention made the friends of the merit system in the civil service gripe by their resolution asking the President in effect to make appointments for reasons of partisan services instead of fitness for the office. Civil Service Reform is a distinctively Republican policy, though President Cleveland favored it and extended it during each of his terms, giving the Republican office-holders the benefit. Perhaps it is not too much to say that three-fourths of the advantage in applying the law reforming the civil service has gone to Republicans. The Republican national platform endorses it. It is a far-backward step to re-adapt the spoils system. But there ought to be an end to hypocritical applications of the civil service laws or rules, and if they are not consistently and fairly administered they ought to be abandoned entirely, so that if the next administration should be a Bryanite every Republican in the Federal civil service will have to move promptly to the beholding block, without a whimper from his fellow Republicans.

H. W. WILEY, chemist of the U. S. Agricultural Department, tells the U. S. Senate Pure Food Investigating Committee that 90 out of 100 articles of food and drink are commonly adulterated. His information is not new to many individuals who have made observations along that line. The great incentive to such sophistication comes from the people's propensity to be imposed upon by the unscrupulous manufacturer or dealer, whose desire for gainful trade is paramount, and who hesitates at no trick of the trade to secure the custom of his honest competitor. Barnum's remark that the people like to be humbugged has an application to a much wider than in the showman's domain as to be almost a universal truth. The bunko speculator on a capital of nerve alone can in a small way make far readier headway than the most meritorious enterprise backed by the purest integrity. The street fakir or any sort of mountebank everywhere finds the people and their money are easily parted by worthless inducements, whereas the success of the average honest person under similar circumstances but with articles of genuine worth for their price is modest at best.

For the better understanding by the people of the Initiative and Referendum I will give the substance of the constitutional amendment adopted by the people of South Dakota at the 1898 election. The Initiative—the amendment provides that when five per cent. of the voters petition the Legislature to pass a law the Legislature must pass it and submit it to a vote of the people, and if a majority of the people voting on the law vote for it it becomes a law; but if a majority vote against it it is null and void. The law may be drawn up by any person and petition circulated by any person. This is called the "Initiative." The Referendum—when the Legislature on its own motion passes a law then such law shall not go into force until a certain length of time after its passage, if before that date five per cent. of the voters of the State, or county if a local law, petition that such law be submitted to a vote of the people then and if at such election a majority vote against the law it will be void and of no effect; but if a majority vote for it it will be valid and binding. This is called the "Referendum."

Certain laws which most necessarily go into immediate effect are excepted from the Referendum. The Imperative Mandate—the people now elect a man to office for a certain term and after he gets in he can hold on until his time is out unless he is impeached, which is a slow process, and he cannot be impeached for mere failure to carry out promises. In case of a law-maker he can go back on every promise he made to get elected. Under the Imperative Mandate the people can end an official's term whenever they want to or for cause they can recall an officer any time. It is believed that the Initiative and Referendum would not often be used, as the officers with this power in the people would generally represent the wishes of the people.
